A Crusader Sweep — Both Pres. and Veep

The "Crusaders" made a clean sweep last Monday when the Sophomore class voted a straight ticket, electing its three candidates to offices vacated during the summer.

Ed Millette of Springfield, Mass., was elected top man of the class. Vice President elect is John Cappuccio of Salem, Mass. The new Treasurer elected on the "Crusader" ticket was Eugene O'Neill who hails from Brattleboro, Vermont.

Besides his "Prexy" job, Ed Millette is active in a large sense in the Outing Club. He was a member of the Winter Carnival Committee last year which did so much to make the Carnival the great success it proved to be. Millette is also in charge of the "MISSION CRUSADER," a publication issued by the Mission Crusades on Campus.

"Veep" Cappuccio is well known as griddle first class. He was a star on last year's freshman football team which fought its way to the state championship here in Vermont. He now holds down a guard position on the Varsity where he has seen considerable action this season in both the Vermont and Norwich games.

The financier of this triumvirate, "Gene" O'Neill, is active in many of the extra-curricular activities including the debating club and the Sodality. He holds the position of Vice President in the Sodality.

Much credit goes to the "Crusader's" campaign manager, Joe Lively of Heath, Mass. This is the second time Lively has managed the "Crusaders," and the second win for his party. It appears that "City Hall" Lively will be in great demand when election time comes to the Hilltop at the end of the year.

Fr. Lyons Pays Flying Visit to Washington

By Charles Randall

Among the approximate thousand American college Presidents who attended the American Council of Education in Washington last week was Very Reverend Father Lyons, S.S.E. The Council discussed the wider use of colleges by the Armed Forces and Federal agencies.

The educators resolved that the Government give specific thought to these ideas:

1.) Extension of ROTC programs to as many colleges as possible.

2.) Establishment of other programs of training and education to serve the national interest.

3.) Use of colleges for training officers candidates and other personnel under programs to be established.

STAY IN COLLEGE

Father Lyons urged students to remain in college as long as possible. If the Federal Government follows the recommendations of the Council the Nation will benefit greatly by having well trained men in varied essential fields.

The educators agreed upon the importance of a long range program. The last war took from colleges prospective scientists who are greatly needed today.

GOVT. SCHOLARSHIPS

Government scholarships to students having accelerated courses was discussed. The money would help those students who depend to a great extent on summer employment.

Further developments from the meeting and its resolutions will be announced as soon as they are put into effect.

Night Of Knights Returns By Demand

Philosophy Club Forum To Be Held Oct. 23

By George Shaugnessy

Last Monday night, the Philosophy Club held its second meeting of the year. The meeting was in the form of an informal discussion of questions which came up in the classes. These questions were of such a nature that they could not be adequately covered in class.

SAC:

Money, mostly, was the topic of conversation as the Student Council met October 4.

In the course of the evening the Council members heard two special requests from two different organizations. These requests reached the total, staggering to the Council, of $1100. In addition the Council members learned, with considerable dismay, that the Sunday night movies were costing the group some $20 per week.

The two different organizations requesting funds were the Glee Club and the Band. Both requests were tossed into the lap of a special committee made up of the financial committee plus Al Fecteau. The movie question was handed over to Jim Barry and Paul Boucher who were instructed to determine whether there would be any strong objections to a small fee being charged for these shows.

SILVER LINING

Just a bit of sunshine shone through the general financial gloom as the group heard that there had been a profit about $90 in the dance which followed the UVM game. John Chachere was the chairman of this dance.

Having disposed of these matters, the Council was stymied for a minute on learning that a request had been made that Council members act as supervisors in the recreation room in Old Hall and in the room in soon-to-be-opened Ryan Hall. It was estimated that this would require 16 man hours per day. Slightly agog at this prospect, the group appointed a committee to consider this request and propose some other plan to the Dean of Men and to Fr. Larkin who is in charge of this program. Tony LeSauter, Bob Gelinas and Jack Aubry were named to this committee.

Among other matters, the Council granted the Mission Crusade permission to publish a monthly handbill.

Absentees at this meeting included Ray Doherty, MICHAELMAN editor; Al Vanasse, LANCE editor, and Dennis Scanlon, President of the K&K.

The questions discussed were: (1) Is moral certitude real certitude? (2) What are the distinctions among substance, nature and essence? (3) Whether the will is really free.

The questions to be discussed at the November 20 meeting will be on the freedom of the human will. The club will meet every second week. They will alternate the meetings by having informal discussions like the one above for members only, and formal meetings open to all students and faculty members.

The next formal meeting will be held October 23. All students and faculty are invited to attend. The question at this meeting will be, "Is there a conflict among theology, philosophy, and Science?" All meetings will be held in Science Hall, room 107.

When Will Ryan Hall Be Ready?

By Charles F. Smith

The first floor of Ryan Hall will be ready for occupancy Saturday, October 14, according to Rev. Lorenzo D'Agostino, Dean of Men.

"Barring further delays," he said, "the second floor will be finished one week from that date, and the four floors by the end of this month."

New Uniforms Due For Knights' Band

By Ray Gosslin

The new St. Michael's College band, introduced at last week's game, is fast becoming a permanent institution in the college. Plans are under way to fit the members with new uniforms, enlist more members with pronounced ability in the field of music, and in a general way make the band more colorful and better equipped.

In an interview with the band's moderator, Mr. Hannigan, future plans for the band were disclosed.

COLORFUL UNIFORMS

According to Mr. Hannigan, the new uniforms will consist of grey trousers with a blazer of purple or navy blue. The jackets will have

by Chub Helfrich

The St. Michael's College Society for the Institution of More Christian Charity will again show its mettle this year. There will be another presentation of the famous "Night of Knights" show.

After last year's successful venture for the benefit of the Burlington Boy's Club, which netted $700, the all-student production of talent and time agreed to reproduce another show for a Vermont cause, as yet unnamed.

The Knights contributed talent, time and energies to last year's show which won favorable from both the audience and the press. An editorial in the MICHAELMAN commenting on the poor conditions of the Boy's Club sparked the first "Night of Knights".

PRESS NOTICES

In describing last year's production the BURLINGTON DAILY NEWS said: "There never was a dull moment in two and a half hour show. The humorous parts had the audiences howling, while the more serious portions kept all eyes riveted to the stage and all ears attuned to the voices."

While the FREE PRESS advised the reader to "take a pinch of 'Hellzapoppin,'" a dash of Ken Murray's 'Black Outs', and a liberal dose of ingenuity. Mix it with plenty of talent and stir rapidly, adding hours of hard work. That was the recipe for the St. Michael's College "Night of Knights'."

a gold piping on the edge of the lapels and on the pockets. A small portion of the athletic funds will be used to help equip the band in these and other needs. Mr. Hannigan also stated that the students will be able to see the band in their new uniforms at the home football game with Arnold on October 22.

MORE MEMBERS NEEDED

Aside from this, there are still openings for many more members in the band. Said Mr. Hannigan, "There are quite a few openings to be filled. We need any person who can play an instrument." It is hoped that the students in this category will heed the call for new members. 'Tis truly said, "you'll only get out of it that which you put into it."

St. Michael's had as a guest speaker last Wednesday night the famous author Miss Rosalind Murray, and in a fine fashion proceeded to create environmental factors that ruined her address as well as the entire evening.

First the P.A. system. In the past this infamous machine has very skillfully and successfully succeeded in spoiling many programs. On last Tuesday it made a silent movie out of the convocation ceremony when Cardinal Tisserant received his honorary degree. On the following night it added to the general misery surrounding the lecture of Miss Murray when it failed to carry one word of her address.

Second: the audience in general was unruly and noisy during the entire program. Granted it was much too long, but that is no excuse for anyone to walk out.

Along with the noise - in the hall were the strains of the Austin Hall plumbing accompanied by the snackbar juke-box. This proved an interlude from the lecture itself but not in the least conducive to good listening. The delightful screams of feminine laughter from outside the hall were very interesting but still distracting.

Third: the definite lack of good manners on the part of the audience even including members of the faculty. It should be evident to all that it is only proper to stand when addressing a question to a lecturer especially when the one lecturing is a woman. Everyone should also realize that a question should not resolve itself into a lecture. The chairman should limit this along with the length of the evening itself.

The P.A. system must be fixed. It is high time that this be done. If St. Michael's cannot show visitors the courtesy of having them heard, then we should not invite them to the campus.

Good manners are something that we must all strive for - of course if the faculty will help set good examples the improvement will be much quicker. The plumbing and the juke-box noise can be eliminated with a little care, but giggling girls inside or outside lecture halls it seems are here to stay.

If all questions were directed to the chair, then repeated so the audience could understand them, this would limit longwinded questions as well as enable the chairman to control the question period.

St. Michael's has too good a reputation to have it spoiled by such avoidable headaches.

This Means You

We had a birthday here at St. Mike's last week. Nocturnal Adoration is a year old.

The proposed plan for this devotion was offered to the S.A.C. just about this time last year. .. To the S.A.C. because it is the "Voice" of the Student Body. Those pioneers whose idea it was, felt that the Nocturnal Adoration program belonged to the Student Body as a whole. Not to any one campus organization or group of individuals but to us, the students.

Plans were made and the machinery began to roll. Off-Campus students handled the day shift and On-Campus men watched in the Chapel all through the night.

And the driving force behind the idea was the fact that this devotion belonged to the students and that it was voluntary. Rather than a duty, it became a privilege - as it should be! Class meetings and Retreat might be "obligatory" - but not this devotion. It is an honor for we students to pay homage to our God in the Blessed Sacrament.

One year later, the point was proven -- most guys, who use their head at all, have a smart sense of values. These guys don't have to be pushed into a good thing. With a minimum of publicity and fanfare, Nocturnal Adoration began for the new year on last first Friday. The attendance was gratifying.

Now we don't intend to "blast" those who didn't take part in this devotion. It's their own life to lead. Besides they might have been too busy --- you know, tests and term papers are beginning to fly early this year. Yes, they must have been too busy!!! Furthermore it's voluntary!

Nor do we intend to pass out a slap on the back to those who made it. These guys don't need it - they know what they're doing. A man with a good head on his shoulders, will never pass up a good thing! - Anyway it was a good birthday!!

HILL WIND

What do you think of the band? What improvements would you make?

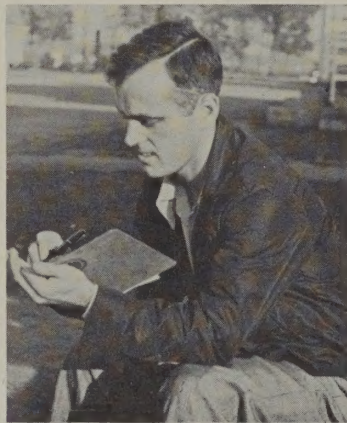

JACK TEREZINI RUTLAND, VT.

I think that the new band at St. Michael's is a big step in the right direction. Not only does it enhance the spirit and color of the SMC ball teams but it gives the final touch to the growing institution found at Hilltop.

BOB FITZGERALD CLINTON, MASS.

A lot of credit should go to Mr. Hannigan and the fellows for putting a band together in so short a time.

JIM BARRY BEVERLY, MASS.

Bill Cofrances and Mr. Hannigan have done an excellent job. The biggest improvement will be the uniforms they're going to get.

Mr. Hannigan and the members of the band should receive much praise for their wonderful performances.

The

By Joseph Michael Shea, Jr.

The day after the last issue of the MICHAELMAN came out I was sitting in the "Snack Bar" showing off a new pair of argyles when a couple of the boys walked in. So, taking my feet off the table I brushed the debris from a couple of chairs and invited them to sit down and break out their cigarettes. Imagine my surprise when one of them completely ignored me, and the other, bending over, snarled and said, "We read your column, you administration lover," and with that, they stormed across the room and sat down with a couple of Trinity girls who were out hunting and just happened to "drop in."

For a moment I was completely flabbergasted but then I shrugged it off, figuring that, perhaps the extra curricular activities of the night before were hanging heavy on their heads. Moments later, my roommate slouched by, blowing smoke in my face and not saying a word. And so it went all through the morning. People coming and going and none of them saying a thing.

CAN'T TAKE IT

Finally I could take it no longer. So, selecting the longest butt from the ash tray, I slunk from the snack bar and headed for the sanctuary of my room. As I stumbled down the dark corridors of the third floor of Old Hall (the sunlight only reaches there three minutes of a year, on June 28th, and electricity costs money) I couldn't help but think that the boys were all wet. They had the wrong idea about the administration. After all, where else can you get an education like this for only $1050 a year plus books, lab fees, athletic fees, etc., etc., et al.

Where else will you find a room like we have in Old Hall, a room that is out of this world? Where else do you have two (2) advisors at your service day and night. What other school can you cut classes so that you may follow the basketball team to Boston? What other school keeps the library open at night so you can study without listening to 7 different radio programs at once.

NO APPRECIATION

"What was the matter with these guys," I kept saying to myself. "Didn't they appreciate the individual attention that was showered on them? Hadn't they noticed that we always got the best seats at the football games? Don't we get late permissions every time we ask for them? Don't we get the best of food? And what about those terrific recreation facilities? Why, heck, we have pool tables, ping-pong tables, and they know we can use the gym anytime we want. Where else can we get a deal like that?"

So, after thinking the whole thing over, I came to the conclusion that the students were all wrong. I figure this way: just look around, and you can see for yourselves that there is nothing wrong with the administration.

I guess I'll have to cut this short so I can shower and shave, 'cause I'm going out to dinner with Fr. D'Agostino. The end.....!!!!

How about this ... In reference to last week's column, which dealt primarily with L.E. Benthuyssen, and his astounding knowledge of the SMC - Middlebury relationship on the gridiron, I have heard various comments. The general reaction from the home front, seems to be in accord, in believing that it was a well written article. However, yours truly, since that time has received a few notices from the crevices beyond Trinity, and believe me, when I say, that he has not fared so well as in his Winooski Park region. In these foreign fields there is still a reign of turmoil and dissatisfaction over the fact that their L.E. Benthuyssen was labeled as a "character" in last week's issue of the Michaelman. Now, this resentment was of great concern to me, and I honestly thought that I had committed a grievous offense, that is, until I looked up the meaning of this word which had caused me to be filled with trepidation each time I crossed the Winooski. "A person regarded as characterized by noble traits" is one definition given while colloquial used, "character" can mean an "odd" or "eccentric" person. So forgive me, you peoples across our fair borders, if I have led you astray with my choice words of wisdom, because I know nothing concerning the personality of L.E. Benthuyssen, and frankly do not even know how to pronounce his name. The only thing I do know, however, is that his column was certainly odd in respect to his views. --- Enough of that for now.

Last Saturday afternoon the Purple Knights ran rough-shod over the Norwich Horsemen to the tune of 44-7. The statistics show that the Jacobsmen kicked off on eight different occasions. These same statistics clearly indicate that the eight kickoffs were returned for a grand total of 176 yards, an average of 22 yards per runback.

Let's figure this out on paper. Say for example, a powerful club like Springfield receives the kickoff on their own twenty yard line. Now if the powerless Horsemen can return a kickoff 22 yards per try, there is no reason to doubt that a powerful aggregation as Springfield cannot return the pigskin 30 yards. This would place the ball at the midfield stripe, an enviable spot to start a drive. --- Then again if the Knights kickoff eight times each game they in all probability will go undefeated - so what's the use of worrying about kickoff returns.

Intramurals

Fr. Garrett B. Larkin, director of Intramurals, announced this week that he has abandoned the idea of a Fall Softball League in favour of a "Touch Football Program."

The intramural football and basketball league will swing into full force next Monday. Two football fields will be in use, and the games will get underway at 4:00 p.m.

The basketball games will be held in the college gym, between 7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.

Thus far Fr. Larkin has received only twelve of the expected eighteen applications. Team managers or captains who wish to place their teams either in the Softball or Football League must have their applications submitted to Fr. Larkin's office before Monday, October 16.

By Jack Stewart

Paced by the scoring of Frank Simas and the fine running of Mike Carr, Pete Plourde and Jack Heggarty, the Purple Knights ran over Norwich Cadets 44-7 to chalk up their second straight of the infant season. This victory enabled the Knights to capture the state crown, last Saturday afternoon at Northfield.

After a listful first half, which saw a stubborn and spirited Norwich eleven hold the heavily favored Knights to a lone touchdown, the Purple gridders opened the throttle and ran roughshod over a game, but completely outclassed Cadet team. The first time the Knights gained possession of the ball in the first half they drove 62 yards to score, Jack Heggarty going over from the five with Coggio adding the extra point. The half ended with the score 7-0. However, the third quarter started with the Knights in high gear, as Frank Simas took personal charge of the scoring, going over from the seven and again from the three. The Cadets then showed their only offensive power of the day and marched 67 yards to score. Then on the second play after the kick-off, a Krupinsky to Simas pass covered 65 yards and resulted in another touchdown. Early in the fourth period a recovered Norwich fumbled deep in Cadet territory resulted in another six points, making the score 31-7. Mike Carr, the fleet-footed sophomore back, set up the final two touchdowns. Carr dashed 55 yards around right end to the Cadet five, and Plourde carried it over from there. Another run by Carr, this time covering 24 yards, to the Norwich eight, ended in the final touchdown with Simas going over from there. A Casperson to Simas pass added the extra point.

Sophs Swell Victory Surge

With two victories already chalked up in the record book the St. Michael's College varsity eagerly awaits next Sunday's game with Arnold College. These one-sided victories were team affairs in every sense of the word and the Knights' strong bench has proven its worth in gold. This depth should prove a strong asset as the season progresses and as the Knights tangle with stronger opponents.

So far, at least, the many Sophomores on the squad have been largely responsible for plugging up any holes that appeared questionable on Jacobs' eleven. The class of '52 can boast of five virtual starters in line backer "Greek" Johannides, ends Dick Stokes and John Meisel, quarterback Ken Casperson and halfback Mike Carr.

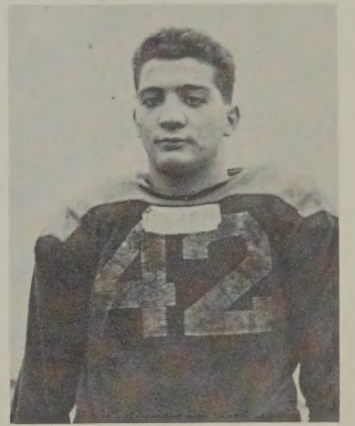

All but two of the eighteen "Sophs" were members of last year's terrific "Frosh" team. Phil Johannides and halfback "Funzie" Cioffi did not play under Barry Branon's regime last season though Phil was a member of the 1948 Frosh eleven. Cioffi, a transfer student, has been hampered this season by a bad leg injury. Don LaBossierie, a shifty halfback from Malden, Mass., is a sparkplug, while Bob Jarvis and Frank Connors are a pair of tough fullbacks who have kept "Pistol" Pete hustling for his job. Lineman John Cappuccio, one of the outstanding linemen on last

INTRODUCING

Leahy

Tricario

by Bill Keogh

A sure prediction? You bet! Not very often one can make such a statement and be considered sane. But mark these words - two guys named Joe Tricario and Bob Leahy will command the attention of Purple Frosh football followers this year.

These two fellows were among the star-studded Mount Saint Michael's High City Champs in New York City in '49. Howard Smith, a Notre Dame grad and ex-Holy Cross coach under Ox DaGrosa, tutored his team to a well deserved championship. Other members of the team went to such schools as Army and Fordham.

From St. Michael's High to St. Michael's College trekked these Bronxites with a good football record behind them and a promising road ahead. Both received three letters in the sport and performed admirably. Leahy is a 5 foot 11 inch 205 pound guard and his ability is the equal of his size. Bob was given honorable mention on the All-Metropolitan team as well as being named to the second team of the All-City squad in New York. Not to be outdone by his roomie, Joe Tricario, too, was named to the honorable mention list of the All-City team in addition to a number of all-opponent teams. Joe is a 6 footer and puts his 205 pounds into the center slot.

The inmates of 420 Old Hall seem to find little time between classes, field practice and skull practice. Both gridders speak highly of their Coach Barry Branon, and enjoy the setup here at St. Mike's.

Yearbook Pix Contest Will Pay Off in Cash

Mission Crusade Starts Crusader

The Mission Crusade, under the direction of Father Maurice Boucher, will issue the first publication of its newsletter, "The Mission Crusader," on October 21, and every two weeks thereafter.

The purpose of the "Crusader" is to acquaint the students with the outcome of the Crusade's activities, and, in particular, to let them know how their money is being spent. This money is obtained through mite box collections, Sunday collections, Christmas card sales, concerts, etc.

The students show a keen interest in where their money goes, and the "Crusader" will not only keep them informed but will also acquaint them with the spiritual functions of the Mission Crusade and the aims of the Crusade in general.

Ed Millette is in charge of the "Crusader," which will be distributed about the campus every two weeks.

If you can take any kind of a picture with any kind of a camera, here is a way for you to win an easy buck each week. The yearbook staff is searching for pictures.

The pictures will be taken of a particular subject each week until the end of the school year. The particular category of pictures will be announced each week in the MICHAELMAN. This week, the contest is open for all pictures of outside activities, paying special emphasis on the coming Outing Club trip scheduled for this weekend.

The pictures shall be submitted to the MICHAELMAN office, second floor of Aquinas Hall where there will be a box for them. The Pix must have the name and address of the sender on the back of the pix.

All pictures will become the property of the yearbook, but an effort will be made to return the unused prints.

So, here's a chance to win some money. Look through your collection now (of prints). You may have this week's winner now among your repertory...

Library Notes

By Ralph Kistner

By now everyone, including the Freshmen, must have had some occasion to use the library. But, how many, including the upperclass men, are fully aware of the vast amount of material available.

There is an unlimited supply of research material both for the science and art students.

Books dealing not only with academic and technical data but information regarding pastimes and hobbies of all types are available for the curious reader.

Fr. Maloney, the librarian informs us that though the Freshman class is too big to instruct as a whole, he would be glad to instruct groups of ten or twelve at a time.
